PREFACE TO THE SECOND EDITION.

IN preparing this edition of the Index of Enactments relating to ~~the~~ the general arrangement of the first edition has been adhered to, but some alterations and additions have been made which it is hoped will be found useful.

A chronological list of the English Statutes in force in India, based on the edition of Statutes published by the Legislative Department, has been prefixed to the work; and chronological lists of the enactments referred to, have been prefixed to the longer headings. An endeavour has been made to bring together for each enactment all references to it in other enactments, to show more fully all amendments, incorporations, savings, and limitations of enactments, and to bring under each effective title all the enactments relating to the subject, and thus to reduce the number of cross-references.

W. F. AGNEW.

PREFACE TO THE FIRST EDITION.

THIS volume has been framed on the model of the Index to the Statutes prepared under the directions of the English Statute Law Committee. Like that work, it consists of two separate parts:—

The first contains Chronological Tables of the Acts and Regulations of the Indian Legislatures.

The second is an Index to the Enactments in force in or relating to India.

The Chronological Tables are based on the official copies of the Acts and of the Regulations under 33 Vic., cap. 3, and on Clarke's edition of the Regulations of the Madras, Bombay and Bengal Codes published under the authority of the Court of Directors of the East India Company.

They comprise the Regulations of the Bengal, Madras and Bombay Codes, the Acts of the Legislative Councils of the Governor General of India, the Governors of Madras and Bombay, and the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, and the Regulations passed under 33 Vic., cap. 3, up to and including, as far as possible, those which have been passed while this work has been in the Press.

With respect to entries in the fourth column, the practice has been as follows:—

- (a) Where an Enactment has been wholly repealed more than once, the later repealing Enactment has alone been entered.
 - (b) Where an Enactment has been partially repealed, and afterwards wholly repealed, the total repeal only is entered. A repeal of the unrepealed portions of an Enactment is treated as a total repeal.
 - (c) Partial repeals covered by later partial repeals are omitted.
 - (d) Where an Enactment has been locally repealed, and afterwards repealed by an Enactment whose operation is unrestricted, the later repealing Enactment has alone been entered.
 - (e) Local repeals covered by later local repeals are omitted.

The Index is intended to comprise the Acts of Parliament expressly relating to India, and the Letters Patent of the Chartered High Courts in addition to Enactments shown in the Chronological Tables as still in force.

Preface to the First Edition.

The following explanations may facilitate references to the Index.

Where the references under a single Effective Title are numerous, they have been grouped under subordinate headings and sub-headings.

In this matter and generally as to arrangement of the references the following extract from the instructions issued for the preparation of the English Index indicate the plan which it has been the object of the compiler to follow:—

“On the question of headings and sub-headings a very wide discretion must be left to the index-maker. As a general rule the headings should be but few, and should be very comprehensive, it being borne in mind that nothing is so likely to confuse an inquirer as to find a reference under a heading to which it does not belong, while even if the heading be too comprehensive, the only result is that a little more trouble is given the inquirer in finding the reference which he seeks.

“The same observations apply to the sub-headings, but with less force. The sub-headings, where used should indicate the important divisions in the subject-matter of the heading under which they are found.

“The references will in general consist of short notices of the various principal enactments, they will be arranged in the natural order of sequence where such order is apparent, and in other cases according to the order of time or of importance, or in such other method as the index-maker may think most appropriate.

“These references will, in a complex subject, be grouped under separate headings and sub-headings while in a simple subject such a division will frequently be unnecessary.

“With respect to the number and particularity of the references no general rule can be laid down. The difficulty in framing references consists in finding generic expressions capable of including a sufficient number of enactments without being too vague. The index-maker must judge for himself how far he must guide the inquirer to a particular enactment by a special reference, having regard to the necessity of keeping his title within moderate compass, and in some degree to the question whether the subject-matter with which he is dealing is or is not of such general interest as to require a greater or less degree of minuteness in indexing.”

In several cases where the references under a single Effective Title, heading or sub-heading were numerous, and where it was not found practicable to sub-divide them, they have been printed in the alphabetical order of the principal word, such word being placed first in the line or printed with an initial capital letter or in italics.

The system of transliteration adopted is that used in the official copies of the Acts of the Legislature. But in the case of important words, the word spelt according to the more ordinary mode has also been inserted with a cross-reference to that under which the detailed references will be found.

Where there are separate Enactments for different Presidencies or Provinces relating to the same subject, the Effective Title has, in some cases, been repeated with an abbreviation appended indicating the local extent of all the Enactments grouped under it, while, in others, the whole of the Enactments have been grouped under one Effective Title, the local extent of each Enactment being shown by a similar abbreviation placed before it. The latter course has been generally adopted for the Enactments, though separate, run on practically the same lines,—as, for instance, in the laws relating to Trade Licences.

Preface to the First Edition.

The abbreviations referred to above are as follows :—

- M. for Madras.
- Bo. for Bombay.
- Be. for Bengal.
- N. for North-Western Provinces.
- P. for Panjáb.
- O. for Oudh.
- C. for Central Provinces.
- Bu. for British Burma.
- Aj. for Ajmer.
- As. for Assam
- Co. for Coorg.
- Ara. for Arakai
- S. for Sind.

These abbreviations have not been used to indicate the application of the Acts, &c., of the Local Legislatures, which can apply only to the respective Presidencies by whose Council they were passed.

The above order has been followed in the arrangement of the Effective Titles with abbreviations appended; the simple Effective Title being placed first, if there are any enactments of general application. Thus, "Landlord and Tenant" will be found first, then "Landlord and Tenant (M.)," "Landlord and Tenant (Bo.)," and so on in the above order.

Where it has been necessary to refer to these repeated titles, in cross-references from other titles, the following has been the plan adopted. When the reference is only to one or two of the repeated titles, these have been entered in detail, but where it is to all of them, the first only has been named, followed by &c. Thus, "See Landlord and Tenant (M.)" would indicate that the reference would be found only under that particular title; but "See Landlord and Tenant (M.), &c." indicates that the reference will be found under "Landlord and Tenant (M.)" and under all or the majority of the Effective Titles that differ from it only by having distinctive provincial abbreviations appended.

The Acts of the Local Legislatures have been indicated in the usual manner by the following abbreviations :—

- Mad. Act.
- Bom. Act.
- Ben. Act.

The distinction between these and (M.) Act, (Bo.) Act, (Be.) Act, should be borne in mind, the latter indicating Acts of the Supreme Legislature referring to Madras, Bombay or Bengal respectively.

Preface to the First Edition.

In cases where different words are used to denote the same subjects in different Provinces, the words employed in each Province have, as a rule, been used for Effective Titles, a cross-reference being made to the corresponding words employed in other Provinces. Thus, for instance, the law relating to Spirituous Liquors and Drugs will be found indicated under "Āpkārī" for Madras and Bombay, and under "Excise" for Bengal and the North of India; while there is a cross-reference from "Ābkārī" to "Excise" and vice versā.

Repeals of Acts will be found in the Chronological Tables. Other references to Acts, as such, will be found in the Index, under the title of the Act, and not under its number. Thus, references to the Indian Penal Code will be found in the Index under the title "Indian Penal Code," and not under "Act XLV of 1860."

Several definitions which have not been considered of sufficient importance to be placed as separate titles, but to which it may nevertheless sometimes be necessary to refer, will be found under the title "Words and Phrases."

Every endeavour has been made to render the Index as complete as possible; but omissions and mistakes will doubtless be found in it. Any intimations of such omissions, or suggestions as to improvements in arrangement or otherwise, will be thankfully received.

Such communications should be addressed to the Secretary to the Government of India in the Legislative Department.

It is intended to re-issue this work periodically; but the exact interval to elapse between the successive editions has not yet been fixed.

STEPHEN JACOB.
